Touching Planos and Organs.
I claim to be a cheap house, but unlike some of my competitors, I do sell goods that are not first-class. Still I have more first-class goods in my house than any house in Waco, and I do not have to wire anyone to know the lowest price. I can sell a piano like every other first-class house and keep all kinds, both cheap, medium and first class. But unlike some other houses I do not sell a cheap instrument as first-class, because I am my own boss, and do not have to do as I am told about these things. Neither have I as delicate a musical ear as some, still I sell more pianos and organs, better ones and for less money than any house in Waco notwithstanding the fact that I am not the oldest house in the state and have sold sewing machines and do trade for mules, horses and cattle and take them at good prices and sell goods at cash prices and will meet any competitors. Come and see me.
Yours truly,
J. B. PAYNE.

Tom Padgett bought the entire stock of buggies and carriages at the S. A. Owens & Son, United States Marshal's sale at almost nothing. A large number of them have been sold but he has still a few on hand which he offers still at remarkably low prices. It is a chance for a person of small means to buy a nice buggy and enable his wife to put on style over her less fortunate neighbors.

THE SON OF MONTE CRISTO.

A Very Acceptable Rendition at the Garland Last Night.

The Leslie Davis Fifth Avenue company presented "Alberte, the Son of Monte Cristo," last night. The play is a good one and is of the type as of the Count of Monte Cristo, having nearly the same personnel. It is written in a prologue and four acts. Frank Lindon, who is the author of the piece, took the title role, while Miss Edna Earle Lindon did most excellent work in the dual role of Eugenie Danglar, and Leon DeArmily. Benedetto and Col. Danglar, by John Griffith and L. W. Lewis were also well done.

The cast was as follows:
Captain Alberte, son of Monte Cristo and ex-Governor of Oran,..... Frank Lindon
Benedetto..... John Griffith
Col. Danglar..... J. W. Lewis
Corporal McKinna, Cordon McDowell
Sergeant Neville..... Thos. McDonough
Maximilian Morrell..... Chas. Mason
Eugenie Danglar..... Edna Earle Lindon
Leon DeArmily..... Alma Cornell
Madame Harmonie..... E. la Mason
Tionette..... E. la Mason
Tonight the well known old favorite Hazel Kirk will be given.

Tomorrow afternoon there will be a children's Toy Matinee, at which a handsome present will be given to every child who attends. The admission for the matinee will be adults, twenty-five and fifty cents. Children twenty-five cents.

ODD FELLOWS' EXCURSION.

To the Widow and Orphans' Home at Corsicana April 26th.

Waco Odd Fellows will join the Corsicana lodges in a celebration of the Seventy-third anniversary of the order in America, at their State Widow and Orphans' Home on the 26th inst. A special train will leave this city at 8 a. m., over the Cotton Belt on the date named and return at 7:30 or 8 p. m. Past Grand Master M. D. Herring will deliver the anniversary oration. Tickets have been placed on sale and now in the hands of a member of Waco Odd Fellows. at the low rate of $1.50 for the round trip. Children of Odd Fellows, under the age of 12 years, will be passed free. All money received over and above actual expenses will be donated to the Widow and Orphans' Home. This is a most laudable enterprise, because those who are needy will receive the benefits. All who go on the excursion will have a most enjoyable time. The hoodlum crowd will not be permitted on the train. Each ticket reads, "right reserved to return money if presented by an objectionable person."

THE Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION.

State Meeting at Dallas—A Good Attendance.

Correspondence of The News.

DALLAS, April 15.—Your correspondent arrived in Dallas at 7 a. m. and found about 100 delegates already assembled. It is expected that about 200 will be in attendance.

At 10:20 a devotional meeting was held in the association parlor, conducted by J. B. Palmer of Galveston, song and special prayer for the descending of the Spirit upon the delegates was the order of the meeting. At 1 o'clock the ladies of the Auxiliary served a delightful lunch in the rooms to all delegates, and at 2:30 the first session of the convention was held in the First Presbyterian church with S. Y. Tryce, chairman of the State executive committee in the chair. After a short talk by the chairman, in which an account of the work in the state was briefly entered into, the motion was made by W. M. Lewis of Waco, that a committee on permanent organization be appointed. The chair appointed as this committee, C. C. Porter of Austin, Prof. E. E. Cammack of Waco, and C. D. Hughes of Sherman. The committee retired and shortly afterwards offered the following report, which was unanimously adopted. President T. B. Nichols of Galveston, first vice-president; Prof. M. Thos. Edgerton, of Waco, second vice president; third vice-president, W. White, of Dallas. The president was escorted to the chair, and after a few appropriate remarks announced as a permanent business committee W. M. Lewis, of Waco, J. E. Clark, of Marshall, J. W. Stephens, of Trinity University, J. G. Reeves, of Tyler, was appointed secretary.

T. J. Wilkie, of Corpus Christi, read a valuable paper on evangelistic meetings for young men.

At 7:30 p. m. the convention met again and was opened by a half hour song service, conducted by L. B. Herr, state secretary of Arkansas. This was followed by a Bible reading conducted by R. R. Lloyd, of Geneva, Ill. Too much cannot be said in praise of Mr. Lloyd's Bible readings. They are clear cut, forcible and present the truth in a way that all can see it plainly.

At the close of the Bible reading Rev. R. T. Phillips, of Tyler, made a forcible address on the subject "Success in Life."

All delegates enter readily and heartily into the work. Waco as it deserves is honored in many ways.

Prof. Edgerton makes a fine presiding officer. The Waco delegates already here are Prof. Edgerton and Cammack, Hood Hill, J. Wilbur Burland, Will Matthews, J. C. Shattuck, W. M. Lewis, John Held, J. T. Upchurch, and G. H. Knebel. Several more will be in on the night train. One young apostle Aaron Knebel is here, loved by all.

Friday morning's session opened by a Thanksgiving service, conducted by J. E. Boynton, of Waco, who arrived together with Harry Godber, and L. Mooney during the night. This was followed by a short report from each association, showing the work over the state to be in a most prosperous condition. The report of the state executive committee and that of the state secretary was read and referred to the usual committee, which was followed by another Bible reading by R. R. Lloyd on the subject "The
